

SUNGEUN HAN-ANDERSEN
President
The G. Chris Andersen Family Foundation

SungEun Han-Andersen began her career as a pianist and teacher, performing extensively in North America and England as solo pianist and chamber music player specializing in 20th century music by young composers.

Later as management consultant with A. T. Kearney, Ms. Han-Andersen led two major cost reduction efforts for a major steel company: including materials handling, operations, organizational structure, and competitive strategies. She also conducted full analysis of a leading university and recommended the facility upgrading, major curriculum revisions to the Board of Trustees.

In addition, Ms. Han-Andersen spent six years at Price Waterhouse both in London and New York, where she was in charge of marketing information and analysis. During an exciting time of mega mergers of accounting firms, her principal duties included competitor analysis. She also supported firm's major proposal efforts to prospective clients.

Ms. Han-Andersen currently serves as President of the G. Chris Family Foundation which privately funds healthcare and educational institutions.

In recent years, Ms. Han-Andersen has developed and managed Mosefund Farm, the family's 250 acres facility dedicated to training and boarding of horses. This has involved mega facility upgrading, staff training, etc.

Ms. Han-Andersen is an avid skier and accomplished horsewoman.
