Parents shouldn’t have to choose baby or work

YOUR TURN

Taialise Davila

Support businesses owned by the API community

Your Turn

Sarah Clark and Jo-Anne Yoo

SPEAKING OUT

A holistic approach is required to tackle this issue, starting with imple- menting comprehensive family leave system. A referral system would seek to mitigate the impact of neglecting API businesses and non-profits by providing essential resources, such as digital literacy training, financial guidance, insurance options, and policy information to API businesses.

According to the Asian American and Pacific Islander community resilience, the API community needs assistance, the Asian American com- munity has more need, especially in language accessibility. Busi- nesses and non-profits have seen a significant growth of 40 per- cent. These statistics underscore the vital role played by immigrant communities, particularly the Asian American community, in enriching the fabric of Rochester’s local economy.

By working together, we can advocate for more resources and invest in more constructive dia- logue, fostering growth and commu- nity resilience.

According to the Asian American Federation’s Data Center, the Roch- ester region is now home to 120 Asian-owned businesses, providing economic opportunities for individuals. Concurrently, the Asian population has seen a notable growth of 40 per- cent. These statistics underscore the vital role played by immigrant communities, particularly the Asian American community, in enriching the fabric of Rochester’s local economy.

The Asian American and Pacific Islander community resilience, the API community needs assistance, the Asian American com- munity has more need, especially in language accessibility. Busi- nesses and non-profits have seen a significant growth of 40 per- cent. These statistics underscore the vital role played by immigrant communities, particularly the Asian American community, in enriching the fabric of Rochester’s local economy.

Rochester has an opportunity to foster an environment where all business owners can thrive regardless of their ethnicity or gender.

A holistic approach is required to tackle this issue, starting with imple- menting comprehensive family leave system. A referral system would seek to mitigate the impact of neglecting API businesses and non-profits by providing essential resources, such as digital literacy training, financial guidance, insurance options, and policy information to API businesses.

According to the Asian American and Pacific Islander community resilience, the API community needs assistance, the Asian American com- munity has more need, especially in language accessibility. Busi- nesses and non-profits have seen a significant growth of 40 per- cent. These statistics underscore the vital role played by immigrant communities, particularly the Asian American community, in enriching the fabric of Rochester’s local economy.

The Asian American and Pacific Islander community resilience, the API community needs assistance, the Asian American com- munity has more need, especially in language accessibility. Busi- nesses and non-profits have seen a significant growth of 40 per- cent. These statistics underscore the vital role played by immigrant communities, particularly the Asian American community, in enriching the fabric of Rochester’s local economy.